THE ULTIMATE
LIST OF BLOG
POST IDEAS.

Looking for blog post ideas? You've come to the right place.

NOTE: Don't miss the 'Blog Post Idea Multiplier' section at the end of this post. It will show you how to multiply each of these blog post ideas by four.

This article is divided into 8 sections, each representing a goal you might be trying to reach with your blog. You can also download a mind map of this post here.

Click on one of the sections below to view the blog post ideas from that section:

- Be Useful

BE USEFUL.

These useful blog post ideas will endear you to your market and establish you and your business as the authority in your niche.

1 LIST POST

List posts are everywhere and for good reason... they flat out work.

Create a list of books, tools, resources or any other thing that your market will find useful.

2 HOW-TO-POST

The How-To Post is another staple blog post idea.

Describe how to execute a process and use images, video or audio to enrich the post and make it as easy as possible for your visitor to take action.

3 CASE STUDY POST

The term 'case study' carries more perceived value than the term article, blog post or video.

Outline and unpack the details of something like a project, event or process.

4 PROBLEM/SOLUTION POST

This type of post has an easy format:

- Define a problem
- Present the solution

This post can cross over into the territory of other blog post types such as the FAQ Post, How-To Post or Checklist Post.

5 RESEARCH POST

Conducting your own primary research around a topic in your niche is one of the best ways to build blog content that gets attention.

That said, you can also simply curate research from third-parties and pull it together into an article, infographic, etc.

6 FAQ POST

If you get repeat questions from customers or prospects there is a good chance they are typing these same questions into Google and other search engines.

Create content around these topics.

If you like this post... you'll love this Execution Plan... check it out below.

7 SAQ POST

The Should Ask Question Post is a variation of the FAQ post. This is a question that customers or prospects don't ask — but they should.

8 CHECKLIST POST

If the content you are delivering can be broken into a “checklist” it will often perform better.

People like the checklist format because it's easy to digest and take action when the content is itemized in this way.

Here's an example from Ian Cleary at Razor Social called the 7 Point SEO Checklist For Your Blog...

7 POINT SEO CHECKLIST FOR YOUR BLOG

By Ian Cleary

Blog Posts

Before you waste money on any SEO consultancy you should resolve the basics.

Have you done a review of your website to check off the basics?

In this article we cover an SEO Checklist with 7 points. This is designed to help you assess if at least you have the basics rights for optimizing your blog/website for Google.

1. DO YOU HAVE UNIQUE TITLES FOR EVERY PAGE

Imagine walking into a library full of books with no titles on the cover.

Google looks for a page title for every page it indexes. The title is really important for Google but a lot of times we don't create titles, have ones that are not optimized or we have duplicate titles.

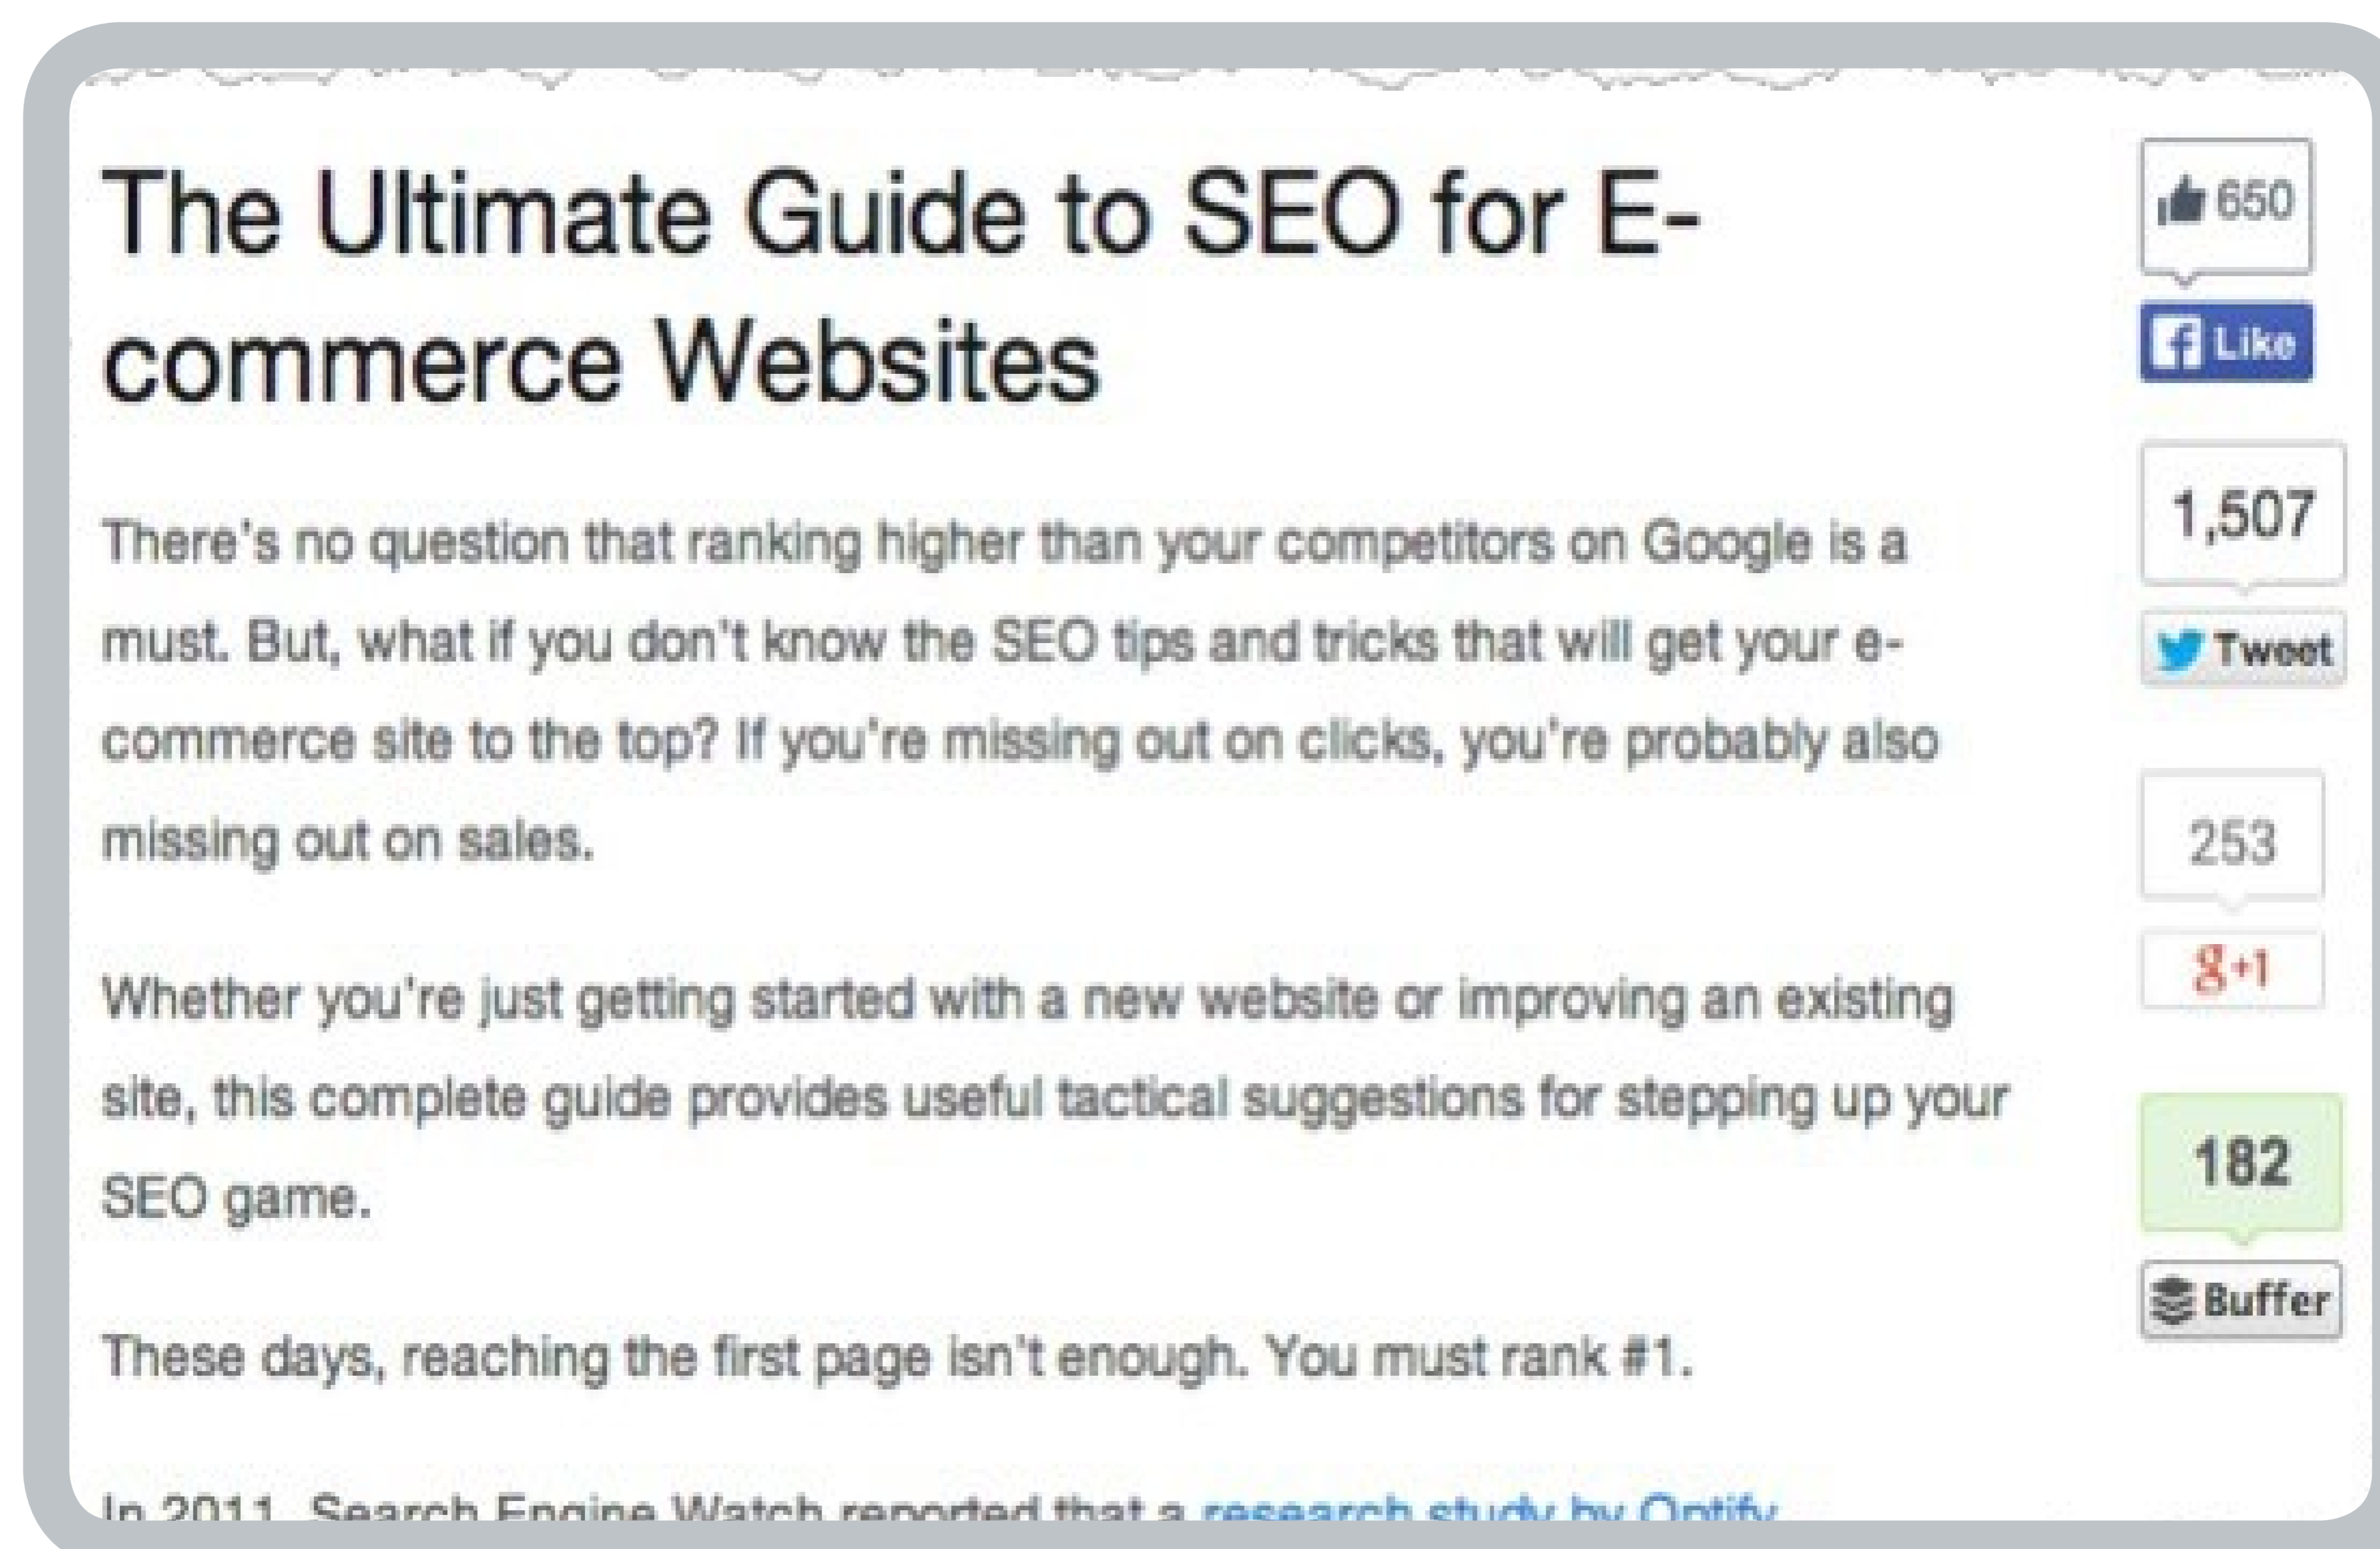

Action – Go to Google and type in site:<name of website> (e.g. site:www.razorsocial.com). When you put in your own page Google will show you a selection of posts and will include the title for the post.

9 ULTIMATE GUIDE POST

The ultimate guide post is just what it sounds like — a detailed, comprehensive post on a topic in your niche.

Don't skimp here — take your time and deliver the definitive post on the topic.

Check out this example from KISS Metrics called The Ultimate Guide to SEO for E-Commerce Websites

The Ultimate Guide to SEO for E-commerce Websites

There's no question that ranking higher than your competitors on Google is a must. But, what if you don't know the SEO tips and tricks that will get your e-commerce site to the top? If you're missing out on clicks, you're probably also missing out on sales.

Whether you're just getting started with a new website or improving an existing site, this complete guide provides useful tactical suggestions for stepping up your SEO game.

These days, reaching the first page isn't enough. You must rank #1.

10 DEFINITION POST

In niches where the market needs to be educated the definition post is an absolute must.

Consider creating a series of posts that define aspects of your niche.

You'll get bonus points if you can logically define something in your niche in a way that is unique, unusual or controversial.

11 SERIES POST

Look for opportunities to break a topic into a series that can be released each day over the course of a week or every Monday over the course of a month.

Link these articles together as you publish them.

Here's an example of a series post from LA Fitness called The 90 Day Weight Loss Workout Plan – Part 3...

The 90 Day Weight Loss Workout Plan – Part 3 (Days 30–45) #MoveMoreBurnMore

12 STATS POST

This post (like the Research Post) works best when you can use statistics that you have produced.

That said, consider curating and pulling together stats from multiple locations to create a good statistics post.

BE GENEROUS.

One of the easiest ways to grow your blog is to be generous by promoting other people. When you promote others they will promote you.

Here's a number of ways to get it done...

13 PROFILE POST

This post (like the Research Post) works best when you can use statistics that you have produced.

That said, consider curating and pulling together stats from multiple locations to create a good statistics post.

14 CROWDSOURCED POST

Bring multiple influencers together to answer a single question in short form.

When you get 10 influencers to give you 100 words each on a single topic you've got a powerful blog post.

The content is top notch, easy to put together and will be shared by many of these influential people.

Here's an example of a crowdsourced blog post from Salesforce called How 10 Winning Salespeople Spend 15 Minutes Before a Sales Call...

How 10 Winning Salespeople Spend 15 Minutes Before a Sales Call

Got an extra 15 minutes before a sales call? Here's how winning salespeople spend that time.

The best thing to do with the 15 minutes before sales call is to review the work you did in planning the sales call. You did plan the sales call, didn't you?

You're going to want to review the outcomes that you need to obtain in order to either create or to want to be prepared to create value and you want to be in the best state possible to do so.

~ Anthony Iannarino, The Sales Blog

Develop the best possible list of questions you can ask the customer.

The most effective sales presentation is the one that is never given. What this means is the salesperson knows their material so well that they can conduct a sales call as a discussion anchored with questions. This is a better approach than a call that relies heavily on marketing materials, which ultimately can offer little flexibility.

~ Mark Hunter, The Sales Hunter

15 INTERVIEW POST

It's surprising how willing even the most influential people are to give you an interview — even if you have a small audience on your blog.

Remember that the easiest way for an influencer to give you an interview is through audio — all they have to do is call you and start talking.

16 LINK ROUNDUP POST

This type of post can work well as a series that publishes once a month or once a week.

Curate, link to and provide a description of multiple pieces of content that your audience will find valuable.

Remember to notify those that you link to via email or social media to give yourself the maximum opportunity to get the post shared.

17 QUOTE POST

People love quotes from influential people.

Pull together quotes from multiple influencers across a specific topic to create a 'Quote Post'.

Again, if applicable — be sure to notify those that you quote that you have included them in your post.

Here's an example from the folks at Unbounce called 20 Marketing Insights That Inspired Us In 2013...

20 Marketing Insights That Inspired Us In 2013

1. Brian Massey

Brian Massey is THE Conversion Scientist at Conversion Sciences and he has the lab coat to prove it. He attributes this quote as a riff on what Scott Brinker has been talking about for years.

18 BEST OF THE WEB POST

The Best of the Web Post often includes content, tools and other resources that you have curated, linked to and described.

19 PICK OF THE WEEK POST

This is a popular type of series post and is usually a relatively short blog post that describes a single piece of content, tool or other resource that you have curated, linked to and described.

20 PEOPLE TO FOLLOW POST

Curate a list of influential people, describe them and provide links for your audience to connect with them through their website, social media channels, events, books, etc.

BE ENTERTAINING.

Creating entertaining content can be difficult but, if you can make it work, it can be a very effective type of blog post.

Here are the blog posts types that entertain...

21 STORY POST

Create content that tells a story that would be entertaining to your market.

Some blogs only produce this type of content and others create a series around this type of blog post.

22 SATIRE POST

Be humorous through the use of irony or extreme exaggeration.

This kind of post works well where there are timely issues such as politics or sports.

23 CARTOON POST

This type of post works well as a series.

Create weekly or monthly cartoon posts that make your audience laugh and think about issues and events in your niche.

24 MEME POST

Meme's are humorous pieces of content that spread virally across the web.

Create your own meme's or pull together a curated set of meme's from across the web.

25 PARODY POST

Create a post that imitates a well-known person or media property in your niche.

Be sure to exaggerate their strengths and shortcomings in your content.

BE TIMELY.

It takes a commitment to stay timely in some niches but if you can pull it off — timely information is among the most effective blog content you can create.

If you find keeping up with the latest news and trends is too daunting of a task, consider creating a series of posts that publishes timely information once per week, as an example.

Here are 5 blog post ideas that are timely...

26 REVIEW POST

Review a product, event or anything else you have access to while it is newsworthy.

For best results, be as honest as possible in your review rather than painting everything you review in a positive light.

27 SURVEY POST

Choose a newsworthy/trending topic and survey your audience about it using email, social media or in-person events.

Then, pull the results together into a blog post.

Here's an example from Copyblogger called Copyblogger's 2014 State of Native Advertising Report...

Copyblogger's 2014 State of Native Advertising Report

by DEMIAN FARNWORTH

Native advertising is paid content that matches a publication's editorial standards while meeting the audience's expectations.

Think Captain Morgan's campaign on BuzzFeed in general, their 15 Things You Didn't Know About 15 Captains, Commanders And Conquerors article in particular.

28 NEWS POST

Look to create content on your blog about events as they are happening.

You don't need to "break" the story but, for best results, be sure to add a perspective that your audience will find valuable or entertaining.

29 TREND POST

Some content creators are able to predict trends as they are happening.

If you're a trendspotter, create content on your blog that rides that trend as it becomes popular.

30 ISSUE POST

Choose issues that affect your audience and create content about them while they are timely and relevant to them.

BE HUMAN.

31 INSPIRATIONAL POST

Some of the most effective content on the web is neither informational or entertaining — it simply inspires.

This kind of post can work well as a Story Post, Profile Post or Quote Post among others.

32 HOLIDAY POST

Some blogs go dormant on popular holidays while others use the opportunity to deliver well-wishes to their audience and display their humanity.

33 GUARD DOWN POST

Some of the best content on the web is created by a content creator that lets their guard down by delivering a deeply personal experience that the audience can relate to.

few years ago I worked with a man who would end up being one of my best friends in the world. We were livin' large in college athletics, he a fundraiser, me a publicity guy. We were traveling the world watching ball games for a living. It was great.

Our paths diverged along the way, but we kept in touch and whenever possible, met up for a weekend getaway to watch a baseball game or three ... and drink a cocktail or three. It seemed like whenever we got together, we did what boys do ... we drank. I have a taste for good Kentucky bourbon, as did he. Neither of us ever really got out of control, or so we thought, so we never saw a problem with what we were doing.

Unfortunately, we did have a problem. We just didn't see it.

My friend wound up facing a drunk driving charge (unrelated to one of our nights out, to my knowledge) and was told by the judge that he'd better get his life together. He lost his job and got frowned upon by the old boy network of athletic fundraising because he'd done the one thing they weren't allowed to do: get caught.

Thank the good Lord, he came out of rehab a changed man. He went back to college athletic fundraising and, after a few short months, quit. He told me the environment there was so predicated on drinking and hob-nobbing with donors at the bar that he couldn't stay sober and do what he was so good at doing. He walked away from a career.

34 BEHIND THE SCENES POST

If you have a loyal following they will want to see what goes on behind the scenes of the content that you can create.

35 OFF-TOPIC POST

This can be risky, but if you have a loyal following that has become accustomed to you covering a specific set of topics — this kind of post can shock them and receive a great response.

Test it.

36 RANT POST

The rant post shows your human side by revealing your passion and anger about a topic that is relevant to your audience.

It's not for everyone but the right blog and the right audience will respond well to a rant.

Here's an example rant post from Frank Kern called YOU: The Best Guru Ever...

OCTOBER 3, 2010 by FRANK KERN | 2,758 COMMENTS

You: The Best Guru EVER

A few weeks ago, I was on the porch knocking back a Modelo Especial working and I noticed one of my friends walking up to the front door.

So I eased on down the steps, let him in, and invited him to up to the porch to take in the scenery with me.

He readily agreed so I grabbed us both a couple of Mexico's finest beers and we took our seats.

BE PROMOTIONAL.

Some organizations use their blogs in a promotional way. This can work very well for the right company.

Here are the blog post ideas that are promotional...

37 COMPARISON POST

Create a post that compares the features and benefits of your product to competitive solutions.

For best results and to build trust, include cases where your product IS NOT the best solution.

Here's an example from River Pools and Spas called Which is Best: Fiberglass, Concrete or Vinyl Liner?

Welcome to my March 2014 Monthly Income Report!

40 COMPANY UPDATE POST

Use your blog to let your customers and prospects know of new employee hires, acquisitions or major contracts.

Buffer November Update: $2,347,000 run rate, 1,189,000 users

Posted on Thursday, December 5th, 2013

Written by Joel Gascoigne

Below is the monthly update email I have just sent this morning to all our investors. I hope you enjoy taking a read about the full details of our work on Buffer in the last month. I'm excited to hear from you in the comments if you have any questions about what we're up to!

If you want to know how October went, you can take a look here.

Traction update

- New users: 66,000 (Total: 1,189,000, from 1,123,000; +5.9%)
- Daily active users: 30,600 (down from 32,500; -5.8%)
- Revenue: $196,000 (Annual: $2,347,000 down from $2,388,000; -1.5%)
- Business revenue: $22,250 (down from $30,510; -27%)
- Cash in bank: $318,651 (last month: $311,719)

The volatility of an early product (Buffer for Business) is affecting our revenue growth rates. We're growing faster overall, but the growth is spiky. We saw a similar pattern in the early days with our freemium product. October's hacking incident is the cause for the drop of DAUs, but we're seeing it returning to previous levels now.

41 PRESENTATION POST

Publish presentations given by employees that contain interesting and valuable content for your audience.

42 BEST OF POST

Create a blog post that pulls together the most popular blog posts you have published over a period of time.

43 PRODUCT UPDATE POST

If you have rabid fans of your products and services you might be surprised at how well a post on new product/new feature announcements will do on your blog.

44 PRODUCT TIPS POST

This post type is both promotional and useful and is very powerful for the right blog and audience.

Create content that helps your customers be more successful with your product or service.

TIP: Prospects will read these too.

Improving Shopify SEO: Several New Features!

by Craig Miller | Posted In Shopify Updates | January 24, 2012 |  44

Search engine optimization is the science - some say art - of convincing Google to show your web page or online store at the top of its results. If you can master SEO, your store will get lots of traffic and you'll be flooded with sales. Best of all, SEO costs you nothing and is automatically built into Shopify.

Today we're proud to announce several features that will make it easier to improve the SEO of your shop without modifying your store's template files. With a few clicks, you can now change page title tags, the homepage's meta description and your image alt tags.

Title Tags:

The title tag is one of the most important elements of your store's SEO. The title tag appears as the clickable link on the search engine results page:

BE CONTROVERSIAL.

You can get a lot of action on controversial posts — just make sure it fits with your brand.

Here are blog post ideas that are controversial...

45 WHAT IF POST

This type of blog post speculates on what would happen if...

The success of this type of post rests on your ability to choose a “what if” that is interesting and debatable.

46 DEBATE POST

Use your blog to present one side of a debatable argument... or find someone that disagrees with you and present both sides in the same post.

47 ATTACK POST

Be careful with this one but picking a fight with the right person/ organization/event, etc will force your audience to choose sides and draw lots of attention.

This type of post, when done right, will create enemies of some and die hard fans of others.

Here's an example attack post from Defective by Design called An Open Letter to Steve Jobs...

An Open Letter to Steve Jobs

Dear Steve Jobs,

We would like to thank you for your public statements about Digital Restrictions Management (DRM), and your pledge to drop DRM from iTunes if the four major record labels—EMI, Warner, Universal and Sony—let you.

As you know, the Free Software Foundation's campaign against DRM, DefectiveByDesign.org, has specifically targeted Apple since it launched in May 2006. As activists against DRM, we have supported these high-profile protests outside Apple stores in the US and in the UK because, as the largest purveyor of DRMed music, Apple carries a large part of the responsibility for the situation in which consumers now find themselves.

But Apple is under pressure not just from anti-DRM activists and from a consumer boycott of DRM, but also from consumer rights regulators in Europe who have declared iTunes's DRM (FairPlay) illegal. In Norway regulators have given you until October 1, 2007 to open up iTunes or be forced to close down under penalty of daily fines. Similar moves are being made by consumer regulators across Europe.

48 PREDICTION POST

If you take a debatable and speculative approach, a prediction post can get a great response.

49 REACTION POST

Use your blog to react to content created by someone else. For example, the content might be a blog post, book or presentation.

BE ENGAGING.

While engagement isn't necessarily the end goal, it pays to create an engaged audience on your blog.

Here are blog post ideas that increase engagement...

50 QUESTION POST

Curate and answer questions your audience asks in social media, on forums or in the comments section of your blog.

*"How far can you push a rope? Not very far.
That's why true influencers don't push."*

A reader asked, "But if you think about how hard and how often to "pull" when are you being strategic and when merely manipulative?"

I thank him for caring enough to want to use influence for good.

First, a powerful influencer does not pull hard; they pull gently.

Regarding the second part of his question, it depends whether you are thinking only of yourself without caring how it affects the other person. That would be manipulation.

On the other hand, if you are focused on helping them; combining the benefits of your goal with THEIR wants, needs, desires, goals, and values then it's very positive; what I would call

51 ANSWER POST

The Answer Post is the sister of the Question Post.

In this post type, you will simply ask a question and allow your audience to answer it in your comments section. This type of post is generally very short, allowing your audience to create the bulk of the content.

52 CHALLENGE POST

Use a blog post to pose a challenge to your audience.

This post can work well as a series with updates being made that feature audience members that are participating in the challenge.

53 CUSTOMER SHOWCASE POST

This blog post type is partly promotional but also builds engagement.

54 FREEBIE POST

Use a blog post to allow your audience to get access to a relevant giveaway.

55 CONTEST POST

There are 4 different formats to deliver content on the the web:

- Text - Text articles are still the most common format for delivering content on the web.
- Images - Image posts can be delivered via infographics, cartoons/drawings, charts/graphs or through still photography.
- Video - Video blog posts can be delivered numerous ways including talking-head style, using a screencast program or presentation style.
- Audio - Audio blog posts can be delivered via podcast or simply by embedding an audio player on a web page.

Most of the blog post ideas in this article can be delivered in any of the 4 formats above.

Choosing a blog post idea is a two-step process...

- Step 1 - Choose a blog post topic or idea

- Step 2 - Choose a deliver format

For example, you might choose...

- An FAQ Post (idea) delivered via video (format).

-OR-

- A People To Follow Post (idea) delivered via image (format).

-OR-

- A Customer Showcase Post (idea) delivered via text (format).
